

President Calls For Five Billion Also For Limited Controls

Warns Korean War Will be Costly; May Not Be of Short Duration

WASHINGTON, July 26—(AP)—President Truman today summoned the nation to "some sacrifice" of its civilian plenty. He declared himself ready to call for "complete economic mobilization" if the defense of freedom requires.

Mr. Truman told Congress, in his midyear economic message, that price ceilings, rationing and "serious shortages" can be avoided if Congress quickly gives him limited control powers and a $5,000,000,000 tax increase.

But he warned: "We must realize that the engagement in Korea will be costly and may not be short. We must prepare against the possibility that new crises may arise elsewhere."

That hazard means, the president said, that industrial output must be stepped up—possibly by a rate of $10,000,000,000 annually before January 1—and that basic industry itself must be expanded by federal loans and guarantees.

"We cannot afford longer to risk the possibility of future desperate shortages of some of the most essential requirements for our national security," Mr. Truman said.

He did not name steel specifically as one of the industries critically needing expansion. But it headed his list of "scarcity" materials, despite capacity operation since April.

Safety from further Communist aggression depends, Mr. Truman said, on "production and more production," and safety from inflation depends on business and consumers alike refraining from "hoarding and avarice."

The message asked no emergency powers beyond those requested a week ago—to control credit, allocate scarce materials, limit civilian output, requisition goods, curb commodity speculation, and help finance industry's expansion for war.

It added new pressure on Congress to grant these powers, however, and its keynote was speed—speed in both law-making and munitions-making.

Build Up Preparedness

The powers requested, Mr. Truman said, not only will meet present needs but will perform another essential service—to "build up our preparedness" for more drastic steps if the military situation worsens.

"Detailed plans for these further steps" have been drawn, Mr. Truman disclosed, and he added: "If it should become necessary, I shall without hesitation ask the Congress for the grant of the powers to implement these further plans, whether for complete economic mobilization or for further intermediate action depending upon the need."

Summary by Truman as to Our Economy

WASHINGTON, July 26—(AP)—Here, in summary, is President Truman's report on the nation's record-setting prosperity when the peace was broken at midyear.

PRODUCTION: A new record rate of $267,000,000,000 worth of goods and services a year was reached. Production of steel, autos and buildings were all at new highs. Industrial output in June stood 99 per cent above the 1935-39 average.

JOB: Civilian employment was $1,500,000, the highest June on record and 1,900,000 better than a year ago.

JOBSEEKERS: The idle numbered 3,400,000, a marked improvement from February's postwar peak of 4,700,000 unemployed.

PROFITS: Corporation profits, before taxes, were at a rate of $31,000,000,000 a year, 17 per cent above a year ago.

PRICES: Consumer prices rose 1.6 per cent in first-half 1950 but in June were 2.5 per cent under the postwar peak. Wholesale prices rose 4 per cent, and sharper increases took place in foods, farm products, rubber and some metals.

WAGES: Factory wage rates hit a new high of $1.45 an hour in June. Salary and wage payments reached an annual rate of $139,800,000,000 in the half-year, up $4,600,000,000 from a year ago.

INCOME: Personal income, at an annual rate of $213,700,000,000 in the April-May-June quarter, had gained 4 per cent in six months.

STRIKES: Twice as much work time was lost in the first five months of this year as in the same period of 1949.

BUILDING: A peacetime high was reached in June: The construction rate was $26,400,000,000 a year. Home-building is at a peacetime record.

FARM INCOME: It was one of the few declining indexes: Farmers' income in the second quarter was 15 per cent below a year ago.

Over 200 Made Homeless in Flood

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 26—(AP)—More than 200 persons were made homeless by a flash flood in north Albuquerque early today.

No lives were lost. Heavy rains in the nearby Sandia mountains sent a wall of water up to four feet into a 19-block section.

Late in the day much of the area was still covered by water six inches to three feet deep. There was no estimate of damage, but at least two houses collapsed and others were reported weakening down.

One Killed, Four Injured In Collision

Headon Crash Near Lone Jack Fatal to K.C. Negro

One person was killed and four injured in a headon collision of a 1950 Oldsmobile Rocket 88 and a 1940 Chevrolet truck, about two-miles west of Lone Jack on Highway 50, about 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Involved in the accident were John A. Poe, about 40, Syracuse, Mo., driver of the truck, and Cleveland Pinkard, 2629 Forrest avenue, Kansas City, a Negro, driver of the Oldsmobile.

Killed was David Kimbrough, 60 1721 Lydia, Kansas City, a Negro, who was riding with Pinkard. Poe suffered multiple abrasions on the chin and several stitches were taken to close the wounds. He also suffered bruises and shock. No bones were broken.

His son Bobbie, 11, received bruises and suffered shock. Charles W. Combs, 37, a farmer who resides south of Syracuse, was knocked unconscious for several minutes at the time of the accident. His injuries consisted of bruises. The boy and Combs were riding in the truck.

Poe, his son and Combs, were picked up by a passing motorist and taken to Syracuse. Later they went to the Smith clinic where Dr. Pete Siegel treated Poe and examined the son and Combs.

Taken to Kansas City

Pinkard suffered a severe laceration on his forehead, abrasions, bruises and shock and a broken leg. He was taken to a Kansas City hospital in an ambulance.

State Trooper Bob Pace of the State Highway Patrol investigated the accident. He reported the Oldsmobile was passing a car when the accident occurred.

Poe told Sergeant William S. Barton of the State Patrol, he was coming up a slight grade and the Oldsmobile was passing another car and evidently didn't see him because of the slight rise in the road. Poe was quoted as saying:

Negotiate in Bakers' Strike

The negotiating committee of the local Bakers Confectionary Workers and officials of the Taysco Bakery, Inc. met this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock to attempt to reach some agreement in a five-day old strike that has brought the Sedalia plant to a standstill.

The union men are requesting a ten cent hourly wage increase and improved working conditions.

According to Elmer T. Dillard, manager of the local bakery, company officials offered the workers an eight cent increase, but the union committee turned it down.

One Killed, Four are Injured

A 1950 Oldsmobile Rocket coach (top) which crashed head on with a 1940 Chevrolet cattle truck, (below) about two miles west of Lone Jack on Highway 50, about 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, killing one and injuring four others. The Oldsmobile was turned into a mass of twisted wreckage and killing David Kimbrough, 60, Kansas City Negro, whose covered body is at the left of the car. Cleveland Pinkard, Kansas City Negro, the driver was severely injured. The truck is owned by J. E. Poe and was driven by John A. Poe, 40, of Syracuse, Mo., was practically demolished. It will be noted how the impact of the crash not only ripped apart the front part of the truck but also caused the cattle bed to snap. With Poe were his 11-year-old son Bobbie and Charles W. Combs the latter who lives south of Syracuse who were not too severely injured. (Staff Photos)

History of Post Office in Talk to Lions

Guy Johnson The Guest Speaker at Noonday Meeting

Guy Johnson, assistant postmaster, was the principal speaker at the Sedalia Lions club at their noonday meeting Wednesday. The speaker used as his subject, "The History of the Post Office and Its Service."

Mr. Johnson was introduced by Edgar Brown, program chairman for the month. Mr. Johnson began his talk reviewing the beginning of postal service, bringing its operations up to the present date. "Most of us take the post office for granted," Mr. Johnson said, "and as one of those things we accept unconsciously, until something goes wrong with the mail then we realize we have a postal service and start raising Cain as to why our letter is delayed."

"The postal service dates back to 1639 when only letters were carried back and forth for royalty. It reviewed the growing of the service telling of Benjamin Franklin being the first Postmaster General under the Constitution.

Ground Troops From Britain

Far Eastern Fleet Be Put on 'Full War Footing'

LONDON, July 26—(AP)—The British admiralty today has decided to send ground troops into Korea.

The British admiralty earlier disclosed plans to put the Far Eastern fleet on a "full scale war footing" immediately.

The decision to back up American GIs in Korea with British soldiers was made public by defense minister Emanuel Shinwell in the House of Commons.

Shinwell said the house: "The government today notified the United Nations we are prepared to send to Korea an effective land reinforcement, including infantry, armor, artillery and engineers, together with the administrative backing required to maintain it."

The commonwealth nations of Australia and New Zealand had made similar announcements, following the lead of Turkey and Thailand (Siam).

These were to answer a United Nations appeal for soldiers to help beat off the Communist invasion of South Korea.

Troops And Planes Batter Communist Drive In South Korea

Red Cross on Duty at Once At Battle Zone

Both in Korea And At Home Are in Readiness to Aid

Mrs. Eula Spencer secretary for the Pettis county chapter of the American Red Cross has received notification from the offices of General George C. Marshall, American Red Cross president, that 11 American Red Cross workers, including three women, are now on active duty with the American troops in Korea.

General Marshall announced that a quarter of a million trained Red Cross volunteers already are in service in this country and that reserves can be mobilized for duty immediately.

General Marshall also said that the American people, and particularly the families of men in the armed forces, can be assured that the Red Cross is on the job in Korea and that its volunteers are already at work here at home.

General Marshall said "With Red Cross men in the field the organization maintains its traditional role as the link between the servicemen, wherever he is, and his family at home."

He also gave assurances that he was immediately ready to provide trained Red Cross staff workers for all combat organizations which are established in the future.

General Marshall said Mrs. Joe Thume Gardner, national administrator of Red Cross Volunteer Services, was responsible for the state of readiness of a trained army of volunteers.

Mrs. Gardner, herself a volunteer, has devoted three years of hard work to the development of a trained volunteer organization which is now in a state of readiness for almost any emergency."

Red Cross to be Blood Securer

WASHINGTON, July 26—(AP)—The American Red Cross announced today that at the request of Defense Secretary Johnson it will become the official agency for obtaining blood for the armed forces.

Gen. George C. Marshall, president of the Red Cross, said in a letter to Johnson that the organization is ready now to increase the output of its national blood program to provide the armed services with the blood that may be required.

"While we deplore the situation which requires this action," Marshall continued, "it is the sensible thing to do, particularly in view of world conditions."

Price is Stepped Up 'For Hoarders'

SALAMANCA, N. Y., July 26—(AP)—A grocery store in this western New York city displayed two piles of sacked sugar today.

The five-pound sacks were labeled: "For regular customers, 3 1/2 cents a pound."

On a pile of 25 and 100-pound sacks was this sign: "For hoarders, 16 cents a pound."

Other Carrier Planes Smash The Center Sector in Slowing Enemy

By The Associated Press

U. S. troops and carrier-based planes battered the spearhead of a Communist drive along the south tip of Korea today. Other carrier planes smashed at the Reds in the central sector in blows aimed at slowing down a growing Red threat to Pusan, Korea's main port and big U. S. supply base.

The United Nations foothold in Korea narrowed to an arc enclosing the defenders in an area of less than a third of South Korea's territory. At one point in the southwest the Communists were only 70 miles from Pusan. Then American troops and planes struck, and unconfirmed reports said the Americans recaptured the port of Hadong, taken by the Reds yesterday.

Britain, Australia and New Zealand, rallying to the United Nations appeal to stop the Korean aggression, all promised to send in ground forces to fight beside the Americans and South Koreans. The British admiralty will put Britain's Far Eastern fleet on a "full scale war footing" at once. Turkey promised 4,500 fully armed troops. Little Thailand, beset with her own troubles, previously offered 4,000.

While the American troops fought bitterly to delay the Communist drive until U. S. strength is built up, President Truman informed the nation he is ready to call for complete economic mobilization if necessary.

The president asked Congress for limited emergency powers and a five billion dollar tax increase. Safety from aggression, he warned, depends upon "production and more production" and upon brakes to avoid inflation and economic dislocations. The American people can avoid price ceilings, rationing and serious shortages, the president said, if Congress grants him limited control powers.

Clings on Stubbornly
TOKYO, Thursday, July 26—(AP)—Outnumbered American and South Korean troops clung stubbornly to defense positions Wednesday in the face of "heavy pressure" along all fronts, General MacArthur's headquarters said today.

A field report indicated that the embattled defenders may have recaptured Hadong, only 70 miles by air west of the major American supply port of Pusan, after furious air strikes left the city ablaze.

Headquarters of the United Nations commander in Tokyo, in a release issued at 12:50 a. m. (8:50 a. m. Wednesday CST), said the First Cavalry division had repulsed a number of North Korean attacks on the Yongdong front in the center of the defense lines. The Reds hurled waves of tanks and infantry in an effort to overwhelm the defenders.

The Fourth North Korean division was reported continuing its virulent flanking move along Korea's west coast, while the Communist Fifth division was "heavily engaged" on the east coast, somewhere south of Yongdok. Fresh enemy forces of undetermined size—were spotted by American pilots pushing south along the east coast from Samchok, 74 miles north of Yongdok, to back up the Red offensive on the extreme right wing of the line. The battle was within 35 miles of the American beachhead and supply port of Pohang where the First Cavalry division landed one week ago.

Headquarters said "no alarm was felt" over the flanking move of the enemy down Korea's west coast because of the small number of troops involved.

However north and east of Hongdong where First Cavalry division lines are under heavy pressure, the Reds were streaming through mountainous passes at Yongson, Chongshan and Ponghwan mountain. These were eight, 12 and 23 air miles respectively north and east of Yongdong.

The four-day battle in which the Reds won Yongdong earlier this week was the largest ground battle of the campaign thus far, with overwhelming pressure placed on four game new U. S. regiments strung along a 25-mile front.

Streets to be Seal Coated

Engineer Collins And Force Prepare For Improvement

City Engineer James I. Collins and his force of workers have begun preparing the streets listed for asphalt seal-coating, which will be done by the W. J. Meno Construction company. The cost, which is paid from the gasoline tax, parking meter money and license sticker tax, will be between $15,000 and $16,000 exclusive of the part done by the city.

Seven And Half Miles
The city employees must prepare all streets for the seal-coating. While they cannot gravel a street, they do patch holes and maintain those streets already graveled. The program this year covers about seven and one-half miles and includes:

First Ward
Gentry, Main street south to end of gravel; Liberty Park Blvd., from end of concrete west; Summer, Liberty Park Blvd. north to Spring street; Autumn, Liberty Park Blvd., north to Spring street; Stewart, Main to Wilkerson; Prospect, Cooper to Henry; Vermont, Main to Wilkerson; Benton, Main to Missouri; Pacific, Main to

FUNNY FACE

By James Gunn

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

"THE STORY: Jack Lanning and Ellie Lane, theatrical friends of mine, were married more than a year ago and made a hit as a vaudeville comedy dance team. Their success was due to Ellie's natural instinct for comedy and Jack's handsomeness, which served as a backdrop for her capers. But Ellie seemed always to shudder every time Jack called her his pet name, 'Funny Face,' and soon I observed a strange tension between them. I knew the reason. Ellie had told me once that she believed she was the plain looking—even ugly—wife of a very handsome man. I couldn't convince her otherwise. 'Numerous,' she told me, 'Jack will realize what he's stuck with.'"

LATER, when Ellie and I were alone, she was nervous and silent. We talked about the act, and she said harshly, "I made up my mind that if they were going to laugh at me, they might as well think I wanted them to. If I'm stuck with this face I might as well get some good out of it at least."

She was intensely bitter. I had never heard her talk like that before. She went on: "It's no joke thinking up the kind of stuff we do. And of course Jack's as much help as a hole in the head. Give him a party and a pretty girl and he's the wit of the world, but on the stage he has as much sense of comedy as the Little Match Girl."

"But there's still no reason I should take it out on Jack. It's not his fault that he's good looking and the girls go after him. It's not his fault that he's popular with people and I sit in a corner. None of it's his fault. I just wish he understood a little more. He thinks I love making an ass of myself on stage; he thinks I'm happy as a clam. I asked him once not to joke about my looks in front of other people. I've never seen anybody so surprised. He was so hurt I couldn't be too hard on him. He still calls me 'Funny Face,' and every time I hear it I want to kill him and shoot myself."

She was taking the situation much too seriously and I told her so. She gave me a short hard laugh and that was the best I could get out of her. The next day I asked Jack to lunch.

"It was difficult to get around to what I wanted to say. He loved Ellie very much, and really believed she was happy. 'Of course I call her Funny Face, I always have. She isn't pretty, nobody said she was. Who cares?' 'Ellie cares.' 'You're crazy. There are thousands of beautiful girls, but there's only one Ellie.' I said: 'Well, you always have plenty of pretty girls around you.' 'Well, of course there are always girls with the show.' Suddenly he looked at me in consternation. 'Look, Ellie doesn't think I've been cheating on her, does she? I go out without her a lot, she always wants to stay home, but I wouldn't do a thing like that.'"

I said hastily, "No, she doesn't think so. That isn't it at all." He looked relieved. "Well, I hope not. She knows I wouldn't do anything to hurt her. Honestly, she's really happy. She must have been tired last night."

I heard from them about a year later. They had taken time out for Ellie to have a child, a girl, whom they named Janet. Ellie went back to work; Jack's income disappeared in 1929, but they were doing well enough so that the loss did not matter.

AND then one day Jack came to my office. I had not even known he was in town. The moment I saw him I knew something was very wrong. He looked desperate and lost. "Where's Ellie?" I asked.

"In Reno, getting a divorce." I was shocked. He had obviously taken it very hard. He was completely bewildered. "I don't know what happened. Everything was going along fine. She was sort of moody now and then, and she'd hardly go out at all. But she seemed to be all right most of the time. We hadn't quarreled or anything. And then one day she just said she was leaving. She said she had to, and that was all."

"Couldn't you make her talk to you?" "I tried. She said she still loved me, it wasn't that. And she knows I love her. I can't understand it. I haven't been carrying on, and I know there isn't another man for her. I told her I wouldn't go out so much, if that upset her. She just said it wouldn't make any difference."

"I persuaded her to wait a month before she left for Reno. She wouldn't stay with me, but a couple of times I saw her. She was perfectly nice, the same as always, but she wouldn't unbend. When the month was up she still wanted the divorce. Well, I couldn't make it tough for her after that. I asked her what grounds she wanted to use, and she said 'ugliness.' I guess that was a joke—the legal grounds are mental cruelty or something, the usual thing."

I could guess what had happened, but there was no point in giving Jack my opinion. He was miserable enough, and he would never be able to understand Ellie's feelings about being called "Funny Face."

on him. He still calls me 'Funny Face,' and every time I hear it I want to kill him and shoot myself."

She was taking the situation much too seriously and I told her so. She gave me a short hard laugh and that was the best I could get out of her. The next day I asked Jack to lunch.

"It was difficult to get around to what I wanted to say. He loved Ellie very much, and really believed she was happy. 'Of course I call her Funny Face, I always have. She isn't pretty, nobody said she was. Who cares?' 'Ellie cares.' 'You're crazy. There are thousands of beautiful girls, but there's only one Ellie.' I said: 'Well, you always have plenty of pretty girls around you.' 'Well, of course there are always girls with the show.' Suddenly he looked at me in consternation. 'Look, Ellie doesn't think I've been cheating on her, does she? I go out without her a lot, she always wants to stay home, but I wouldn't do a thing like that.'"

I said hastily, "No, she doesn't think so. That isn't it at all." He looked relieved. "Well, I hope not. She knows I wouldn't do anything to hurt her. Honestly, she's really happy. She must have been tired last night."

I heard from them about a year later. They had taken time out for Ellie to have a child, a girl, whom they named Janet. Ellie went back to work; Jack's income disappeared in 1929, but they were doing well enough so that the loss did not matter.

AND then one day Jack came to my office. I had not even known he was in town. The moment I saw him I knew something was very wrong. He looked desperate and lost. "Where's Ellie?" I asked.

"In Reno, getting a divorce." I was shocked. He had obviously taken it very hard. He was completely bewildered. "I don't know what happened. Everything was going along fine. She was sort of moody now and then, and she'd hardly go out at all. But she seemed to be all right most of the time. We hadn't quarreled or anything. And then one day she just said she was leaving. She said she had to, and that was all."

"Couldn't you make her talk to you?" "I tried. She said she still loved me, it wasn't that. And she knows I love her. I can't understand it. I haven't been carrying on, and I know there isn't another man for her. I told her I wouldn't go out so much, if that upset her. She just said it wouldn't make any difference."

"I persuaded her to wait a month before she left for Reno. She wouldn't stay with me, but a couple of times I saw her. She was perfectly nice, the same as always, but she wouldn't unbend. When the month was up she still wanted the divorce. Well, I couldn't make it tough for her after that. I asked her what grounds she wanted to use, and she said 'ugliness.' I guess that was a joke—the legal grounds are mental cruelty or something, the usual thing."

I could guess what had happened, but there was no point in giving Jack my opinion. He was miserable enough, and he would never be able to understand Ellie's feelings about being called "Funny Face."

New Scientific Discovery
Corrects Constipation

You need not suffer from Constipation any longer. Scientists have announced that a new drug, "UNI-LAX," has brought relief to people suffering from the most chronic and aggravating miseries for as long as 20 years.

Uni-Lax Is The Answer

UNI-LAX has given many, blessed relief from the agonies of hard constipated matter that scratched their delicate intestines, caused piles and even ruptures. This misery blasted them up, made them overweight and sapped their vitality.

After a few short days, many of them said they felt like new people. A man who had been constipated for years said and was now having the most satisfactory bowel movement; he could no longer be bothered.

Many people who had been taking "Bottle of Laxatives" (to use their expression) claimed UNI-LAX did them more good than anything they had ever tried.

Gentle and Safe

Don't expect UNI-LAX to give you the drastic reaction that lies your stomach in knots, gives you Cramps and Diarrhea, cures your colon irritated, exhausted and inflamed.

UNI-LAX is not designed for the temporary emergency relief offered by harsh laxatives. IT ACTS NATURALLY and will take from two to five days to correct your condition.

Experts Argue Over Veterans' Insurance Costs

By David Tyson

WASHINGTON—How much would veterans' insurance cost if the policy holders, not Uncle Sam, paid administrative expenses? A congressional subcommittee, investigating the whole National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) program, recently came up with an estimate that it cost the Veterans Administration (VA) alone about $14 to handle each NSLI policy during fiscal year 1950, with other government agencies paying other parts of the cost. The subcommittee estimated the average cost per policy for the five largest commercial life insurance companies at $8.40 during the same period.

The VA insurance chief, Harold W. Breining, replied by pointing out:

1. Nearly 70 per cent of all NSLI policies are term policies, renewable every five years, and about 70 per cent of NSLI premiums are paid monthly. Commercial companies, Breining said, write more permanent policies than renewable term insurance, and their premium remittances are more often on a quarterly, semi-annual or annual basis. Hence, the VA's clerical and mailing costs are considerably higher.

2. The VA has to maintain a relatively active file on all persons who ever held NSLI policies because Congress granted former policy holders who are still in good health the privilege of reinstating lapsed policies.

3. Four of the five commercial companies cited by the subcommittee handle a large volume of industrial and group insurance which, Breining said, can't be compared to the VA's ordinary insurance. He estimated the cost per policy on the one "Big Five" company that issues only ordinary insurance to be about $16, which he said compared favorably with NSLI cost.

A subcommittee spokesman acknowledged the first two arguments, but said Breining's $16 estimate for one company represents all expenses involved in the insurance operation. The subcommittee's $14 estimate on NSLI represents only the expenses chargeable to insurance in the VA's budget alone. Other items which the subcommittee said should be included are:

1. Administrative expenses incurred by the Armed Forces, which act as NSLI salesmen. About 20 per cent of present NSLI policies are held by servicemen, and the Armed Forces estimate their own cost per policy to be about $2.70.

2. Handling NSLI cases in court, done largely by the Department of Justice. Commercial companies maintain their own legal staffs.

3. Rent and taxes. VA offices throughout the country are rent-free and the whole NSLI operation is tax-free. The subcommittee said both are increasingly big expense items for commercial companies.

4. Other costs which commercial companies charge up to expense, such as advertising and contributions to medical research.

Furthermore, said the subcommittee, while the number of NSLI policies in force is decreasing, the administrative costs are constantly increasing. "That's not true," Breining said. He produced figures showing the number of regular employees in the VA insurance division had decreased from 20,952 on Oct. 1, 1946, to 13,417 on March 1, 1950. Breining also said items like Armed Forces administration, Justice Department litigation, rent and taxes, if reckoned into NSLI expense, would not raise the $14 estimate appreciably.

Rep. Porter Hardy (D-Va.), chairman of the House subcommittee investigating NSLI, said that because of many factors involved he did not feel an issue should be made of the difference between commercial and NSLI costs.

Neighborly Club Hears Report

The Neighborly Neighbors extension club met on July 20th at the home of Mrs. Charles Singer. Mrs. Tom Conaway opened the meeting by leading the Club Collect. Mrs. Conaway also reported on the council meeting. Plans were made for the August picnic. For devotion, the first 7 verses of the twenty-first Psalm were read by Mrs. Conaway. Mrs. Myron Harper led in singing, "A Missouri hymn" and in repeating the Benediction.

Hostess gifts were opened and refreshments served. Mrs. Frank Younger and Mrs. F. H. Younger were guests. The August picnic will be at the home of Mrs. Myron Harper.

Oddity of Pecan Leaves Brought to News Office

J. W. Gerds, 2101 South Marvin avenue, brought an oddity to the Democrat-Capital news room Tuesday afternoon which he said came from a pecan tree on his farm, and what appeared at first glance to be bear merely pecan leaves, turned out to be a great cluster of four.

The leaves, four of them, were all based on one stem and their backs had started to grow together as if they were "Siamese twin" leaves.

Mr. Gerds said that he had never seen leaves from any tree in such an odd formed cluster.

Business Shuns Excess Food Stockpiling

Korean affair — at least their orders went in before that. Dice thinks with them it was simply a question of buying while prices were lower.

Another agriculture department spokesman admits that in view of what big business did on the outbreak of the last war, government was greatly concerned how business would react to the Korean situation. But up to now, he reports, at least to repeat 1942's rush to hoard has been seen.

Manufacturers are aware of marked differences in the food supply picture today, he points out.

The 1949-50 world sugar crop will be the largest in history. Our own sugar beet crop is also expected to be the largest on record and our sugar cane crop a third larger than average. Cuban production is double pre-war output and our quotas of imports from Cuba were recently increased and can be increased further.

The fats situation is also far stronger. The tremendous growth of the detergent industry in the last few years has struck a major outlet for meat packers' animal fats and an important market for vegetable oils. Furthermore, these soapless detergents can be made from petroleum or such oil derivatives as benzene or kerosene, instead of coconut oil from the Philippines.

The world crop situation this year has greatly improved. But every country is dollar hungry. Therefore, in our strong dollar position, we can buy food through out the world in the event any shortages develop here.

Nevertheless, this department of agriculture spokesman adds, if the general public does not halt its unchecked raids on grocers' shelves their panic may cause food manufacturers to get worried and begin to protect themselves by unusually large advance buying.

Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, does not expect this to happen. He says food processors know the present shortages in the stores are caused only by delivery delays.

He explains that in some areas customers are stripping stores of their normal weekly supplies in one or two days. Several "shortage" days follow before the trucks from the well-stocked warehouses can deliver more supplies.

Many chain grocery companies are fighting the hoarding by refusing to increase their normal deliveries to branch stores. Safeway Stores have warned their branch managers not to order more than their normal weekly supplies even though customers have stripped down their shelves temporarily.

The A&P Food Stores have not changed their policy of having individual stores in the chain order on a day-to-day basis.

John Hartford, board chairman of A&P says, "We will make every effort to hold our inventories at the lowest point consistent with good service to customers because hoarding, whether by wholesalers, retailers or consumers will cause higher prices."

Granted a Beer License

The County Court granted a three-two beer license this morning to Vernon E. Bryles, 109 South grand avenue. The license is for a six-month period and will expire on December 31st of this year.

Stop lights were also forfeited when drivers failed to appear.

he said, "This organization is nationwide but extends also into Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Canal Zone."

According to Mrs. Grandner, additional volunteers are now needed in Red Cross chapters participating in the National Blood Program, in chapters adjacent to military camps and hospitals, and in port cities. Elsewhere volunteer reserves and inactive workers should maintain contact with their local chapters.

The Red Cross went into action as soon as Korean conflict began, according to General Marshall.

Attention to Evacuees

As American evacuees from the war zone arrived in Japan, often without adequate funds or clothing, the American Red Cross immediately began to serve them. Loans and grants of funds were made when needed, clothing was provided or credit was established for those wishing it, and special aid was given to mothers with babies and small children. The Red Cross also provided communications facilities for those wishing to notify relatives in the United States of their situation, and over a thousand such messages were handled.

Meanwhile a Red Cross field director was sent to Korea with comfort supplies to serve with the U.S. combat troops landed, and as rapidly as was required additional field staff was sent from Japan.

To replace its supply of comfort articles now going to troops, the Red Cross headquarters in Tokyo cabled Washington for 100,000 tubes of toothpaste, 2,000 towels, and 25,000 cartons of cigarettes.

Blood to Wounded

To provide whole blood for the wounded the American Red Cross headquarters in Tokyo assisted the military authorities to recruit over 2,000 donors to maintain an adequate reserve at all times. The blood was processed through the 40th Army Medical Laboratory.

The 10 workers now in Korea are: John Edward Dufley, 927 Madison Ave., South Milwaukee, Wis.; Alexander Borden, 810 Convent Ave., New York, N. Y.; Jerry F. Gaston, 35 Highland, Stratton Park, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Norbert Knapp, 507 Duane St., Glen, Ill.; Ralph R. Montague, 825 First St. S.W., Birmingham, Ala.; T. C. Vickery, 8233 Third Ave., South, Birmingham, Ala.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round
Indian Lady Ambassador
Chides Secretary Acheson
By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The only woman ambassador in the Washington diplomatic corps is Madame Pandit Nehru, the sister of the Prime Minister of India. She is a lady of frail figure, great dignity, and a sort of austere beauty.
Wearing the traditional white sari and flowing robes of India, Madame Nehru went to the State Department the other day to hand Secretary of State Acheson a note written by her Prime Minister brother, asking the United States and Russia for peace in Korea.
Her call upon the courteous, slightly aloof Mr. Acheson at first was quite formal. Then it warmed up in a way only a woman can make diplomacy warm.

"Madame Nehru," Acheson said, after carefully considering the Indian peace appeal, "I sympathize with your views, but we cannot be appeasers."
"Appeasers!" The bird-like Indian ambassador almost leaped from her chair. "Appeasers! You call us appeasers! We in India, who know what it is to spend years in jail for a cause in which we believe! You call us appeasers!"

"When we lacked the arms to fight," she continued, "we developed our own weapons—nonresistance. Never did we appease. We in India know what it is to fight and to win!"

"But you don't understand the Russians," countered the Secretary of State.
"You forget, Mr. Acheson, that I served as Ambassador to Russia," shot back Madame Nehru. "I know the Russians well. And I think also you forget your geography. India has a border with Red Russia on one side and Red China on the other. We know them perhaps better than you."

"But I am here pleading with you for your own good, Mr. Secretary. For the United States must not lose India. We can be and are your best friends, your best ambassadors in the East. You must not lose India, Indo-China, and Indonesia. Unless you show them a way to peace, however, you will!"

Secretary Acheson agreed that the United States certainly could not afford to lose this vital part of the world, and promised a sympathetic study of the whole problem.

"Imperialistic America"
What most people in this country don't realize is that the Communist radio pours a daily stream of propaganda into the villages of China, northern Indo-China, and as much of the Orient as possible, telling how the Imperialistic United States has invaded Korea. Naturally, nothing is said about Russia's part in the North Korean invasion, or that the United Nations sanctioned the American resistance.

And, since radio in the village square is the chief means of communicating with a large part of Asia, a lot of Orientals have come to believe this.

That's why it is so important to send Philippine Gen. Carlos Romulo, president of the U. N. Assembly, to Korea to show Asiatics that other Asiatics are emphatically behind the United States. This has been proposed at Lake Success, but fear of treading on General MacArthur's toes as supreme commander has caused hesitation in Washington.

That's also why the action of Senators Byrd, George, et al, who voted to cut American propaganda, is so short-sighted.

Clumsy Press Relations
The national defense department has a clumsy way of winning new allies for the U. S. A. in the Korea war.

Louis Foy, American correspondent for the Paris Presse, one of the largest French papers and vigorously anti-Communist, recently sought to attend the Defense Department briefing of the Korean war which is given to newspapermen every day. He was told by the office of Lee Hargus, chief of the Pentagon press branch, that it would take 24 hours to get permission.

Foy, who had to return to New York, countered that it had taken only 30 minutes to get permission to attend a White House conference held by the president of the United States; that he is already accredited to the State Department, also to the United Nations; and that he has been a newsmen in this country for 13 years.

Later, when the Frenchman turned up at the Army briefing, he was stopped at the door. "This is a United Nations war," Foy protested, "and France has been fighting the Communies in the Far East for several years. I can talk to President Truman, but I can't listen to some general give out information that is going to appear in the papers next day!"

Nevertheless, he was barred. Also barred at first was Swedish newsmen Rolf Lamborn of the "Stockholm Tidningen," though later both were told they could attend.

Merry-Go-Round
Friends told ex-OPA Administrator Leon Henderson that he might be drafted to handle price controls and rationing again. "The constitution of the United States," replied Leon, "does not permit double jeopardy." . . . Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine specifically requested that she be put on the Senate subcommittee to investigate the sex-infatuations in government. Her motive was to see that the probe be conducted in a dignified manner. . . . Sen. Clyde Hoxby of North Carolina, in charge of this probe, is doing a full-minded job. . . . preliminary indications are that the greatest number of homosexuals are in the armed forces—about 30 per cent of the Navy and around 20 per cent of the Army. . . . White House assistants John Sweeney and Milt Connolly, who never liked White House Counsel Clark Clifford, have continued to knife him since he set up private law practice. They pulled a few disloyal wires to make sure his client, T.A., lost out on the Pan American Airways—American overseas airlines merger.

Texas Tom Speaks
No Senator was better qualified to answer Joe McCarthy's harangues on attack on the State Department than Tom Connolly of Texas. As boss man of the Foreign Relations Committee, Connolly knows the department, its policies and personnel, like a book.

However, Texas Tom remained noncommittal until the closed-door Democratic caucus the other day. Then he said a mouthful. "The evidence clearly shows that the State Department is innocent of the charges made against it," declared Connolly. "But it is regrettable to me that this issue should have been raised at a time when the reputation of our State Department can least afford to be sullied."

"This is a time when we should all be pulling together in a united effort to win the conflict in the Far East. We would be exerting all our energies to that job. We cannot afford to let our people be divided and confused by political opportunists who seek to destroy confidence in the government."

Connolly, however, did not approve a proposal, supported by Sen. Clifford Tydings of Maryland, that a "resolution of censure" be adopted against McCarthy. Neither did Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington, James E. Murray of Montana and others, who agreed that this might make a "martyr" of the wild-talking Wisconsinite.

Some Take Joy in Our Reverses
While U. S. Troops Fight For All
By Bruce Blunsat

Two currents abroad in the world must be observed rather sadly by Americans. One flows directly from our military reverses in Korea, the other from the wider struggle between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Newsmen in Europe report that a good many Europeans have been gaining smug pleasure from the early defeat of our troops in the Far East.

Possibly it's natural to enjoy seeing trouble descend on the big fellow who has been telling everybody else pretty much what to do. Nobody is ever too fond of the man who gives the orders or makes the chief suggestions.

Yet Americans must hope this sentiment is distinctly a minority one. They would hate to believe that petty resentments would find large expression among free men in times so critical for freedom.

Any sensible person here, in Europe or in Asia, if he has the facts, knows U. S. forces have been battling against big handicaps in Korea. Time will be needed to make our strength count. The man who cannot put that perspective on America's performance is poorly qualified to judge events.

More unfortunate than this reaction, however, is the notion that has grown up in certain European and Asiatic countries that the Cold War is strictly a U. S.-Russian power fight. According to this view, the wise course is to steer clear of this struggle between two stubborn giants—U. S. and Russia.

Nothing could be more unfair or short-sighted. One would think the U. S. had asked to be plunged into the Cold War. But it's evident to anyone with an appetite for realities that our role as adversary to Russia was thrust upon us, that we accepted it grudgingly because every other nation defaulted.

It is wrong to imply, as these would-be realists do, that the United States is blind to reasonable prospects of peace and is obstinately committed to settling accounts with Russia at whatever cost.

In truth, this country is fighting the Cold War—as it is fighting in Korea—for every free man who walks the earth. In every era, sense it is the champion of liberty in its gravest hour.

Up to now foreign peoples could have had—and did have—since the Cold War what America would do when the showdown stage came. And this despite the Marshall Plan, the North Atlantic pact, foreign arms aid and "Point Four" economic help.

But our action in Korea, however short of its goals this far, is a conclusive answer to all doubters. We are pouring our substance and the blood of our soldiers into a battle 7000 miles from home. To be sure, we need to do a great deal more, but our goals are right.

In such a crisis for liberty, it ill behooves a free man anywhere to smile smugly at our reverses, or to declare that this is not his fight. If he does not make it his fight, the Russians may some day be around knocking at his door. And then that smile will disappear.

Get Fighting Mad --- For Peace

A west coast newspaper received a reader protest when its front-page a big picture of a GI atrocity victim lying face down, his hands tied behind his back. The objector claimed the photograph would "scare up" people too much.

This seems to imply that the only individuals who should get stirred up about a war are the soldiers fighting it.

War is ugly, brutal, fearful. It is made up of such miserable experiences as fending off swarms of mosquitoes by night and enemy bullets by day. It is sleeping upright in a water-filled foxhole and awaking to find a tank gun staring at you. It is life at its most uncomfortable, lived in the constant, unerring knowledge that you may be struck down at any instant.

Far from the sight and sound and smell of this, no one can really imagine how it is. But we should all try; we should not fear to be "stirred up." If we do not try, how can we ever understand why it is so vital that wars be prevented?

Rom. 7:24-25; 8:1-2, Rom. 7:9; Luke 10:9
WITHIN YOU—AT YOUR DOORS!

There are two great streams of religious thought in the world today. One stream maintains, "Everything is within you; all you need to do is to awaken your latent powers; you have the spark of the Divine within you—kindle it." Or in the extreme form, as in the Vedanta in India, "You not only have the Divine within you; you are Divine; you are God—realize it." The capital of this realm of thought is Benares, India.

The other stream maintains, "You are a sinful creature; there is nothing good within you; you need the saving grace of God from without to awaken you, to reform you." The capital of this realm of thought is Bern, Switzerland, the home of Karl Barth.

Do we have to vote with our lives on our side or the other of these viewpoints? No. Each has a truth, but it is only a half-truth—the truth is beyond each. The truth is in the Kingdom of God. The Kingdom of God is fulfilled "until it be fulfilled in the Kingdom of God." The half-truth in each is fulfilled in the whole truth of the Kingdom. The Kingdom fulfills the truth in immanence—"the Kingdom of God is within you." It fulfills the truth in transcendence—"the Kingdom of God cometh"; the Kingdom of God is at your doors. The Kingdom is both pervasive in immanence and elusive in transcendence; it is within us and beyond us.

Man is sinful in that he is sinning not only against the God who made him, but also against the Kingdom within him. The texture of his being—he is sinning against himself. This view makes sin worse than if man is looked on as naturally sinful; for if he is naturally sinful, then is sin so bad, if it is natural? Why should I be punished for doing what is natural, for fulfilling my own nature? But if sin is not only sinful, but also unnatural, then sin is doubly bad—it is revolt against God and myself. But sin is not natural; it is an attempt to live against my real nature.

So sin is anti-life.
O God, Thou hast not fashioned us in our inmost being and then abandoned us, turning us over to forces too strong for us. Thou art protesting at every step our self-ruin. Help us not to consent to our own ruin. In Jesus' name. Amen.

The Doctor Says—
Excessive Snoring Comes From
Many Causes, From Nasal
Obstruction to Muscle Relaxation
By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

The last two questions in today's batch represent a large number of people who are troubled by snoring. Usually the snoring does not bother the snorer as much as someone else.
Q—My husband snores in all the keys and variations one can think of. He has tried hard to stop this habit because he knows it annoys and wakes me. Even fasten himself in this position and waits do not seem to keep out the noise. Is there anything more that can be done? Mrs. N.
Q—I snore so hard that my throat hurts in the morning and my tongue is dry. I am 54 years old and sleep very soundly but have nearly choked on saliva several times. Mrs. C.K.

A—Snoring is merely unconscious vocal accompaniment breathing in some people when they are in deep sleep, under anesthesia, or unconscious from some other cause. The actual noises are made by partial obstruction to the passage of air.
The partial obstruction can come from any one of several different causes of which the following may be mentioned: Unconscious clamping together of the vocal chords because of relaxation of the muscles which ordinarily keep them in place; falling backward of the tongue; relaxation of the muscles of the back of the throat; and presence of mucus in the nasal passages.

When persons are unconscious in sleep or under an anesthetic, they cannot control their muscles in the throat any more than they can anywhere else so there is no reason why they can do about it. Clearing the nose before going to sleep may help if the snoring comes from mucus.
Snoring is also less likely to occur when the person goes to sleep lying on the stomach or the side. However, a person cannot fasten himself in this position and may turn during the night and start snoring.

A—It is possible but the question of what to do for a non-functioning gall bladder is often most difficult. What the failure to show up on an X-ray really means is what is hard to tell. The situation may have to be watched for some time and perhaps X-rays taken again after several more months.

Q—Would it be advisable for a person to have a vaccination against smallpox if there was some sugar in the urine even though

Q—In what way are humps important to the camel?
A—They are used to store fat. After a camel is fed well for a long period, its hump or humps will be of full size. After a long journey across the desert, with little food, day by day, the hump becomes smaller, and at the end it may be hardly there at all. Q—What is the cause of styes?
Mrs. E.O.
A—This is an inflammation of one of the oily glands of the eyelid. Germs are present. Styes are believed to come from eye strain in many cases.
Q—What is toxemia of pregnancy and is it likely to recur in succeeding pregnancies? C.B.
A—The cause of the toxemias of pregnancy is not known. These toxemias are serious for the mother and sometimes require an early termination of the pregnancy. One of the first signs is

Charge 15-Year-Old With Murder

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., July 26—(AP)—A charge of first degree murder was filed Tuesday against a 15-year-old boy who admitted wrecking a Frisco passenger train near Holland, Mo., Sunday. The engineer died in the wreck and thirteen passengers were injured. The boy, William L. Godsey, son of a sharecropper, told Sheriff E. F. Claxton of Pemiscott county that he broke a switch lock and a signal light, getting the idea from a movie about a gang of bank and train robbers. He said he didn't intend to wreck the train, but wanted to turn it on to a siding.

In addition to the murder charge, young Godsey faces a charge of "criminal intent to kill and injure passengers on a train by tampering with a switch." The charges were filed in magistrate court by Prosecuting Attorney Elmer Peck. A preliminary hearing has tentatively been set for Thursday. Meanwhile, the boy is held in the county jail.

Trio Picked Up by Police

They Confessed to Forging Several Checks in Sedalia

Three young men, were picked-up by the Sedalia police, Tuesday night for investigation on charges of forgery.

They are: Marvin Fox, 18, 007 East Eleventh street; Bob Billingsley, 18, 1717 West Eleventh street and Dan Goff, 17, 101 1/2 East Main street.

After questioning, the trio signed statements to the effect that they had passed possibly up to $100 worth of forged checks on the bank account of Carl Chamberlain, Sedalia, route 5, who was a former employer of Fox.

Went to Cole Camp

According to police, the three said they had started writing the checks about two-weeks from last Sunday and had passed them at several taverns and even some at Cole Camp, within the two-week period.

They also said they had not picked on one bank alone, but had cashed checks made out to three banks in Sedalia, all on the same man's name. Each one confessed he had signed one or more of the checks himself.

The trio was picked up by police officers "Bill" Hatfield and Chas. Homan on Main street.

Fox said all three of the boys had gone to Oklahoma on July 16 and while there had turned themselves over to the Oklahoma state patrol at Vanita, Okla. Fox said the officers kept them in the county jail there for one week and after telling them that they could not find any place where they were wanted, they were released.

Charges of forgery have been filed against the three youths, this afternoon, according to prosecuting attorney, William F. Brown.

A date for a hearing has not been set.

Appraisers Named for Brockman Estate

Wm. H. Bunn, R. M. Overstreet and C. W. Stephenson have been named by Probate Judge A. M. Harlan to appraise the estate of the late Arne Brockman, who died July 15. They began their duties Monday afternoon, but will not be ready to report for several days.

The Smelter Club met for its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Everett Vannoy with eight members and two visitors present. Guests were Mrs. Jake Cline and daughters and Mrs. Tom Porini, who became new members of the club.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. William Kraft, who gave the devotional and prayer, followed by the club collect.

Roll call was answered with "Ways of finishing and care of floors and woodwork."

The club will finish planting and landscaping the church yard in September.

Reports of the Achievement committee were given.

The club voted to donate $500 to Mercy hospital in Kansas City. Mrs. Ella K. Brandhorst and Mrs. Everett Vannoy gave interesting talks on reconditioning walls, woodwork and floors. They showed samples of flooring finishes and a number of wallpaper companions and selections.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Clara Lechner with the 4-H girls to have a part in the program.

Discuss Writing Club History

The Hughesville Extension Club met at the school cafeteria on Wednesday for a covered dish luncheon with Mrs. Ray Tegmeyer, Mrs. Alonzo Moon and Miss Minnie Wiley as hostesses.

The meeting opened with reading the Club Collect and was followed by prayer and the club song, "Song of Peace."

Mrs. Art Martin, president, presided and roll call was answered with "One thing I do to save time and energy."

Mrs. Martin brought out further discussion of the writing of the history of the Hughesville Woman's Extension club with a special request that any data any member has been given to her so as to compile as nearly as possible an accurate history of the club. The club was organized in 1929 with Mrs. Elmore McCurdy now Mrs. John Matches of Los Angeles as charter president.

Reconditioning of walls and woodwork and finishing and care of floor and woodwork were given.

and demonst... by Mrs. Alonzo Moon and Mrs. Bill Binkley. The August meeting will be held at I. Betty Park at 7:00 o'clock on Tuesday, August 1, with a back-of-pie supper. It has been found that by the use of spreader-sprayer preparations such as Kelofog or similar powders the effectiveness of D.D.T., Methoxychlor and Benzene Hexachloride (or Lindane) are greatly prolonged.
Last summer on a test the following mixture gave satisfactory repellency and kill for 88 days, on range cattle: 8 lbs DDT Powder, 50% 4 lbs. Benzene Hexachloride 2 lbs. Kelofog makes 100 gallons of spray. The approximate cost of this batch would be $5.88

2 Games Scheduled For Tonight In The Semi-Pro Tourney

Redbirds-Sugar Creek Play in First Game; "Whiz-Kids" Play With Independence

Commissioner Gene Kuntz of the National Baseball Congress who is conducting the tournament said it will be necessary to add one game extra starting Thursday right until the schedule is caught up.

Tuesday night games are to be played tonight, providing it does not rain after 4:30 o'clock, the afternoon game however, is being switched about with the Jefferson City Red Birds playing the Sugar Creek Standard Oilers in the first game at 8:00 o'clock.

"Whiz Kids" Play at 10 p.m. The Sedalia Whiz Kids' Merchants are scheduled to meet the Ace of Clubs of Independence in the second contest starting at 10:00 o'clock.

Both the Red Birds and Oilers have a standing of one win and one loss in the tournament. A loss tonight will mean elimination for the losing club.

The Whiz Kids have won two games with no losses to the present time while the Ace of Clubs have dropped one game and won one. A loss by the Cubs tonight means elimination.

To make up the schedule the games are slated for 11 today and two Friday night, seven games of Saturday starting at 10 o'clock in the morning. Four games including the finals will be played Sunday.

Keeping Fingers Crossed Commissioner Kuntz said Tuesday night he hopes the weather will clear so the final games can be played this Sunday night. The semi-finals to be played in the afternoon. He said under the system being used it is possible for several teams to be in the final place.

The Championship game will be one elimination. Should two teams meet in the finals, who have not lost a game, at any one game will be played. If one team has won a game and another has lost one, the team winning the final game regardless of the tournament record will be champions.

The tournament is sponsored by the Missouri Pacific Boosters Club and Commissioner Kuntz is being assisted in the operation of the tournament by Assistant Commissioner Hank Williams.

Cardinals Down Dodgers

Homer of Del Rice Puts Redbirds in the Lead For Victory

By The Associated Press
Once again the St. Louis Cardinals can hold their own in the National League. After losing eight straight games in the field—eight in two seasons and six this season—the Cardinals beat the Dodgers in their home territory last night 9-5.

No veteran Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst kept alive the lead by putting in a strong performance.

Musial had a home run, a double, a single and an extra base hit. Schoendienst had a home run, a double, a single and an extra base hit.

Schoendienst completed his third straight home run, but an error by Del Rice, the team's working catcher, he slammed a three-run homer to the over the field seats.

The Cardinals' victory in front in the eighth.

Del Rice was a factor in the defeat with a grand slam home run in the seventh that credited him a victory.

Cardinals Trail in Second Spot by But A Half Game

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland's rampaging Indians looking more menacing each day on the field, 'dark horse' in the American League.

Sedalia defeated Washington Sunday in a slow and poorly played game with a 9 to 3 score.

Shawie had a triple and Morgan and Butler got doubles.

Sedalia last night had a 7 to 1 victory over the Cardinals.

Shawie were on the mound Sunday and Larry Mines and Johnny Cochran were behind the plate.

No one in the league—and that includes the pace-setting Detroit Tigers and runner-up New York Yankees—has looked better than Lou Brock's men who have won 12 of 13 games in their last 16 games.

Whereas five weeks ago the Indians trailed the Tigers by seven full games, they are only two and a half games out today.

Thanks to a 7-5 triumph over Philadelphia last night when both the Indians and Yankees were losing the Indians found themselves in the best position they have been all year.

Bob Feller was the winner yesterday although he needed help from Lemon in the ninth. It was Bob's 10th triumph of the year.

He got a big lift from Easter who smacked his 8th and 10th homers of the year.

The Red Sox won a 7-5 triumph last night from Detroit, scoring three runs in the eighth off the pitcher Hal White to overcome a 6-4 deficit.

Each of the three and seven innings and chased him. He got to overtake an early 4-0 Boston lead.

Each of the four pitchers, with White the loser.
